PRICE PER FOOT?

Price per foot is a misnomer. It's a decent number for budgetary purposes, but each job is different. If all jobs were flat, no vegetation, easy access, no digging problems, no rocks in the soil and no underground utilities that require hand digging, a price per foot would work. Footage, material requirements, soil conditions, accessibility, etc all play into the price of a job.

A price per foot for 150 linear feet is one thing, but the same price per foot can't be applied to a job with only 8 feet of fence. For example, a project calling for 499 linear feet will have a different price per foot than a job with only 80 linear feet. Calling fence companies you find in the phone book and simply asking "What is your price per foot for fence?" will not be an accurate portrayal of the true price of a new fence.

At Fencing and Awning, we do not have a fixed price per foot. We can give a ballpark figure over the phone, but to achieve an accurate quote, it is best to set up a free on site estimation. We look at each project individually; we calculate the materials needed for the job, time on the job, and soil conditions to derive at a lump sum price. Without seeing the job site, we are more inclined to give a high price per foot to cover ourselves for any unseen circumstance since we haven't seen the job site.

Feel free to e-mail us at josh@fencingandawning.com or fax us at 509-248-6070 with a hand sketch of your job with footage and we will be more than happy to give an estimate.

We look forward to serving you. Please contact us to set up non-obligating, free on-site estimate at 509-248-5117.
